

—FOR MOTHER'S DAY 1996—

Dear Daughter,

I've got to get up and write this letter.
I know it's late, but better late than never.

You're a special woman in my son's life.
Friend, companion, lover, wife.

A better worker and helper - there is no other.
What's most special to my grandchildren - their mother.

You're busy working from dawn 'till dark.
What's more special is your loving heart.

Mostly what I want to say.
I'm sorry I forgot you on your special day.

Happy belated Mother's Day.

From Mom
